

MEMORIAL ADDRESS

Of Claude R. Clark at Unveiling of Woodmen of World Monument.

WAS AN ELOQUENT TRIBUTE

To the Virtues of the Late Max J. Moayon at Jewish Cemetery.

A memorial address was made by Mr. Claude R. Clark Sunday afternoon, in the Jewish cemetery, upon the occasion of the unveiling of a monument to the late Max J. Moayon. The monument was erected by the Woodmen of the World, of which Mr. Moayon was a member. There were brief ceremonies before the unveiling, a large crowd being present. The W. O. W. camp attended in a body. Mr. Clark appeared in a new role as a memorial orator, but he was equal to the occasion in every way. His address was choice in its diction, and eloquent in its delivery. He dealt with the fraternal spirit in general and the work of the Woodmen in particular, who have erected 35,000 such monuments all over the country to honor their deceased members. His address was listened to with profound attention and was a gem of its kind. The speaker, who already enjoys a reputation as an orator, added new laurels to his fame in a field in which the people have not hereof heard him.

Max J. Moayon was a prominent young merchant and capitalist of the city, who died a few years ago, a popular member of several of the fraternal orders of the city.

CHANGE CHANNEL,

Canal Would Obviate Flood Danger.

Hickman, Ky., June 10.—There is a move on foot to cut a canal across Madrid bend, several miles below Hickman, which will change the channel of the river so as to leave the city of New Madrid, Mo., high and dry. The inconvenience suffered by that town as a result of the recent overflow has served to stimulate the citizens to take this step.

For many years this extreme bend in the river at that point, which is 35 or 40 miles around and only a mile in width, has been a proposition with which three states have had to contend, Missouri, Tennessee and Kentucky. The progress of navigation has been impeded by having to make a run of 35 or 40 miles around to find themselves several hours later within one mile of the starting point. Besides this, farm lands have been greatly damaged during overflows, such as have just passed, by a strong current running across, carrying fences, small buildings and the soil from the land. Years ago this neck of land was seven miles wide, and is now one mile.

ROOSEVELT WILL BOLT

This Seems Certain and Teddy Is On The War-path.

SAYS HE IS BEING ROBBED.

Taft Men Have the Delegates and Say He Can Go Ahead and Bolt.

Oyster Bay, June 10.—Flatly announcing that he will not abide by the action of the Republican National committee, Col. Theodore Roosevelt has issued a vitriolic statement denouncing the seating of the Taft delegates in the Ninth Alabama district, in which he said:

"A nomination obtained by the votes of delegates seated in utter defiance of justice as these two Alabama delegates stated, would be worthless to the man obtaining it, and would be indignantly repudiated by the Republican party as a whole."

Summing up Roosevelt said: "Taft leaders speak as if they were regularly Republicans. I do not concede that theft is a test of regularity."

Bolt Seems Certain.

Chicago, Ill., June 10.—"We have fought our way into the convention, and we can fight our way out again," declared Wm. F. Flinn, Roosevelt's chief lieutenant. Flinn had no hesitancy in declaring that the Roosevelt men are preparing to hold a convention of their own if they did not control the convention proper. The Taft men declared they had control of the convention, and that they would emphasize it, and welcome the Roosevelt bolt. They insisted that only a small percentage of the delegates classed as Roosevelt men would follow the colonel out of the regular convention.

With the convention still 8 days off, more than 300 delegates are on the ground. More are arriving by every train. The interest is intense. The hotel lodgings are jammed.

PARK SHOW.

Tented Theater in City All This Week.

The Park Show pitched its theater tent on the lot in the rear of Hotel Latham yesterday for a week's engagement, presenting a new play at each performance. The company is said to be one of the best of its kind on the road, strictly high-class and capable. In addition to the regular performances, some of the best vaudeville in the country is presented.

DUFFY MAY ANNOUNCE

As Candidate For Congress On the Democratic Ticket.

AGAINST HON. A. O. STANLEY.

Is Serving His Second Term as County Attorney of Christian County.

Hon. John C. Duffy, serving his second term as county attorney of Christian county, is a prospective candidate for Congress in this district on the Democratic ticket.

He has not definitely decided to run this time, but he is regarded as a certain entry in the contest two years hence. Indeed he is seriously considering the question of announcing at once as an opponent to Congressman A. O. Stanley, who is so far without opposition. Mr. Duffy is one of the recognized leaders of the Democratic party, not only in this county, but in Western Kentucky, and his friends look upon him as good Congressional material.

PRESIDENT BIBLE

Calls Meeting of Louisville Manufacturers.

Mr. John F. Bible, of this city, President of the Kentucky Manufacturers' Association, has called a meeting of the manufacturers of Louisville to be held in The Seelbach red room Friday evening, June 14. A program of expert speakers and workers has been arranged and progress of such associations in sister states will be discussed in full. John M. Glenn, of Chicago, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, will be one of the principal speakers.

GROCERY IN ASHES

Another Building Also Destroyed, the Total Loss Being About $2,000.

SOME INSURANCE CARRIED.

Blaze Discovered About Midnight—Other Gracely Items of Interest.

Gracely, Kentucky, June 10.—Fire Saturday midnight destroyed the grocery of J. W. Froman and the residence and the residence and barber shop of Bacon Parrish, col., at Gracely. It is not known how the flames originated. The roof of Mr. Froman's storehouse was falling in when the fire was discovered and nothing could be saved. His loss is about $2,000, with $1,000 insurance on stock and fixtures. The house belonged to Bob Irvin, col., of Pembroke, who for several years operated a grocery in Gracely. Parrish's loss is about $250. He had no insurance.

The residence of Mr. J. P. Meacham, near by, caught several times from flying sparks, and it was with much difficulty that the building was saved.

Mrs. C. H. Gregston is entertaining a dozen or more children with a house party which will last throughout the week.

Mesdames Lander Meacham and Charles Wadlington are chaperoning a lot of young people in Camp near Little River church. There are about two dozen in the party.

A plan is under consideration to raise the Titanic. It is calculated that, counting the ship and contents, $25,000,000 went down when the iceberg had done its deadly work. If the ship could be raised, most of this would be saved, for besides the hull, the state-rooms of the wealthy passengers would give up rich treasures of jewels and much money. A New York engineer calculates that the work of raising could be done for $1,000,000. Where the Titanic went down the water is said to be two miles deep, but the promoters of the raising scheme contend that because of the increasing density of the water the vessel did not go to the bottom, but is suspended in the water as far down as her weight could overcome the resistance.

Drives off a Terror.

Executioner of death in the winter and spring months is pneumonia. Its advance agents are colds and grip. In any attack by one of these maladies no time should be lost in taking the best medicine obtainable to drive it off. Countless thousands have found this to be Dr. King's New Discovery. "My husband believes it has kept him from having pneumonia three or four times," writes Mrs. George W. Place, Rawsonville, Va., "and for coughs, colds and croup we have never found its equal." REAL HISTORIC ROOM

WHITE HOUSE APARTMENT
WHERE HISTORY WAS MADE.

It is at the Head of the Main Flight of Stairs, and Has Been Used as an Office by Many of the Presidents.

Visitors in Washington seem generally to think that the east room of the White House is the "historic chamber" of the old building. The general run of sight-seers is likely to think on social events of importance as fixing the fame of a spot. It is true that the weddings of president's daughters to men of their choice have taken place in the east room, and that there great receptions have been held, and also, lest it be forgotten, that there a great wrestling match took place, presided over by a president of the United States and looked on more or less admiringly by cabinet officers, foreign ambassadors and ministers—but on such doings as these the east room's celebrity must hang.

At the head of the main flight of White House stairs is a room which is historic. In it the Monroe doctrine was formulated; in it Andrew Jackson prepared for his attack on the national bank, and in it he made up his mind what to do if nullification should be attempted in South Carolina. In this room overlooking the rear grounds of the White House beyond which lies the Potomac, Buchanan thought on the approach of civil war, and there struggled with himself on the question of duty. There he met Jefferson Davis and other southern statesmen, until that time loyal to the flag of the Union. In the room President Lincoln drafted his emancipation proclamation, and in it President McKinley spent the entire night following the destruction of the Maine in Havana harbor thinking on the awfulness of war and withstanding urgings that it should begin at once.

This room on the second floor of the White House has been an office or used as a study and a library of presidents since the time that the building was erected. The office wing is of recent construction, having been completed just about the time that Theodore Roosevelt became president. Most of the messages which have been sent to congress on minor and major subjects were written in the second-story study of the executive mansion proper. It was the room in which foreign ambassadors were received by the president when charged with messages of moment. There Lincoln and his secretary of state and the British ambassador passed twelve hours of one day and twelve hours of another in consultation, and at times in controversy, following the receipt of the news that the Confederate commissioners, Mason and Sildell, had been taken from the British ship Trent on the high seas and had been made prisoners of the United States.

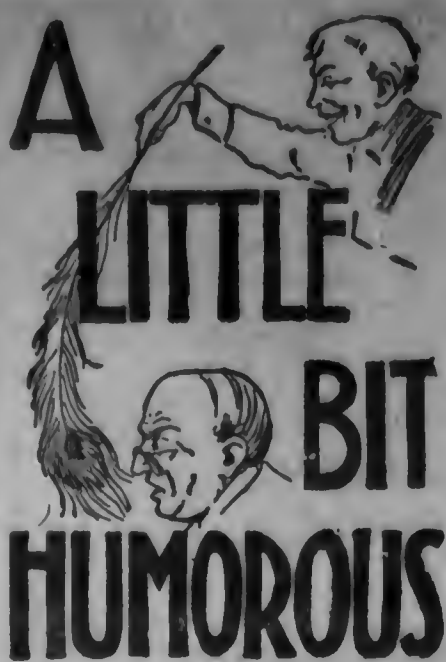

When the office wing of the White House was built the study and office room became a study only. It is there that the president passes his evening, and it is there that he receives callers whose errands are of such a nature that they do not care to go publicly in the daylight hours to the room adjoining the cabinet-room in the office annex. Originally it was an office, a study and a library. The books on the shelves have changed with each incoming administration, and they have reflected the literary tastes of the incumbent in office.

When President Roosevelt was in the White House the study was in nature that of a circulating library. He had books upon all kinds of subjects, although nature books and hunting books predominated. It is said, however, that there was not a book on fishing in the whole collection, for Mr. Roosevelt liked every other kind of outdoor sport, but never went and never goes fishing, a fact which has been somewhat resented by the followers of the sport.

If presidents of the United States chose to receive gifts they could fill the east room, the study, the blue room, the green room and rooms of other colors. The presents, however, which presidents are allowed to take are few. Certain gifts have come from the powerful ones of the earth, foreign monarchs whose offerings could not be declined without giving offense, but as most of them have been articles of an innocuous kind they have been taken in the spirit in which they were given. King Menelik's gift was innocuous as long as it was kept behind bars. It consisted of two lions which his majesty was pleased to have Mr. Roosevelt accept some years ago. The beasts are now in a cage in the Zoological Garden in Rock Creek Park.

Pays for Stolen Mule.

A conscience-stricken old Civil war veteran, who stole a mule from the government during his enlistment in the army, has sent Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh a draft for $200 to square the account and ease his mind. The contribution was forwarded through a Methodist minister at Greencastle, Ind. It will take a special act of congress to apply this money to any special fund.

Obvious.
"Patrick, the widow of Mahoney tells me that you stole one of her finest pigs. Is it correct?"
"Yes, your reverence."
"Oh, Patrick, Patrick! When you are brought face to face with the widow and the pig on the great judgment day, what account will you be able to give of yourself when the widow accuses you of stealing?"
"Did you say the pig would be there, your reverence?"
"To be sure, I did."
"Well, then, your reverence, I'd say 'Mrs. Mahoney, there's your pig.'"

Not the Proper Word.
"Did you send Mr. Dresser the samples he asked for?" inquired the tailor.
"Yes," replied the clerk; "I'm just finishing our letter to him. I'm sending it 'Trusting to have your order.'"
"What! Cut out that word 'trusting' and make it 'hoping.'"—Catholic Standard and Times.

A Civic Duty.
"Every business man should belong to the board of trade or the chamber of commerce and be on a committee. Such is a civic duty."
"Are you on a committee?"
"To be sure."
"And what committee are you on?"
"—that is—well, I can't remember just now."

A Crucial Moment.
"Flibbittson claims to have a hypnotic eye."
"It didn't help him any yesterday."
"How was that?"
"He was suddenly confronted by a landlady to whom he owed six months' board."

BY THE YARD.

The other day three or four Lyons boys went into a local meatshop to "get one on the butcher." One of them advanced to the counter and said: "How do you sell your meat?"
"Any way you want it," said the butcher.
"All right; what will it cost for a yard?"
"Seventy-five cents."
"I'll take a yard."
"Where's your money?"
The money was paid over and the butcher shoved it in the cash register, reached under the counter, pulled out three pig's feet and laid them before the young man with the remark: "Here's your meat; three feet make a yard."
The young man was not to be bluffed and took his meat amid the laughter of his friends.—Kansas City Journal.

April First.

Mother—Why, what is the matter, Johnny? What are you crying about?
Johnny—Teacher made me sit in her chair on the platform today, just because I whispered once.
Mother—Well, I don't see anything dreadful in that. You have had to sit there before.
Johnny—But there was tacks in her chair today! I'd just put 'em there for her to sit on.—Judge.

MISUNDERSTOOD.

Kenyon—Welsh rarebit always keeps me awake at night.
Kenton—It don't trouble me—it's the prowling cats that keep me awake.
Kenyon—I never ate any cats.

A Doubtful Compliment.

Miss Pretty—I don't see how you whistle through your fingers in that way. I could never do it, I'm sure.
Mr. Goodheart (wishing to compliment her delicate little hands)—No, Miss Pretty, if you were to try it your whole hand would slip into your mouth.

A Deadly Aim.

Church—I see painting and sculpture are conducive to long life, says an authority, but music kills young men.
Gotham—That is, of course, provided the musician's neighbor is a good shot with a gun.

An Inducement.

"Will yez take a ticket for a goat that I'm rafflin', sorr?"
"But, Michael, I've no use for a goat."
"That's so, sorr; but yez probably wouldn't win it."

When Women Vote.

Fair Suffragette—Isn't she a fright? Why does she do it?
Her Chum—Principle. She swore she wouldn't wear a rat or a corset until Mame Smith is elected president.—Puck.

Condoning Lawlessness.

Bristol, Tenn., June 6—Considerable adverse criticism is heard of people of Wytheville, Va., who are sending flowers and delicacies to members of the Allen gang, in jail there. BOHUMIR KRYL and his band will be one of the leading musical features of the forthcoming Chautauqua program. Kryl, according to the Los Angeles Times, is beyond any question the greatest cornetist in the world, and the Cincinnati Enquirer speaks of him as a great conductor and the head of a great band. He was working as a sculptor and as such had achieved no little fame, when he laid down the chisel and took up the cornet at the suggestion of no less a great personage than the world famous John Philip Sousa. As a sculptor one of his famous accomplishments was the preservation of the features of the author of "Ben-Hur" in marble. This was Kryl's last piece of sculpture, and his best. Since he began his career as a musician he has directed his band in nearly all the large cities of America. He comes to the Chautauqua direct from the Riverview exposition, Chicago.

TAKE IT IN TIME

Just as Scores of Hopkingsville People Have.

Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect kidney backache, Urinary troubles often follow. Act in time by curing the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for weakened kidneys.

Many people in this locality recommend them.

Here's one case:

G. H. Carr, farmer, Cadiz, Ky., says: "I have used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and found them very beneficial. I had attacks of kidney trouble before I took Doan's Kidney Pills, but this remedy quickly cured me and I now have no further trouble. I can highly praise Doan's Kidney Pills."

The above is not an isolated case. Mr. Carr is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully endorsed Doan's. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Carr had. 50c all stores. Useless Worrying. An old author has remarked that there are two things which it does no good to worry about—what you can help, and what you can't help. The latter, because fretting won't help the matter; and in the former, because it is your duty to go and help it, without fretting.

WOMEN CAPITAL PEST

BOTHER THE LIFE OUT OF OUR NATION'S REPRESENTATIVES.

Feminine Time-Wasters of All Classes and Sorts Camp Persistently on the Trails of Lawmakers in Washington.

There are a great many people who think that members of Congress have nothing else to bother them but the making of the nation's laws.

They imagine that, unless for a stray lobbyist now and then, they are never disturbed from their arduous duties of lawmaking. Such is far from the case and the principal harassers of our national representatives are, to a great part, women. These feminine time wasters are women of all classes and sorts and represent every variety of life from the poor woman who wants a government position for her sickly husband to the home stater who merely wishes to call on the member from her part of the country. In the capitol there are two rooms for these women callers, one for those wishing to see the congressmen and another for those who are looking for the senators.

In each of these rooms there is a young woman who takes charge of the callers. The young woman in charge of the Congress waiting room has the most trouble, for the callers are more numerous and more bothersome. As they come in they go to her desk and tell her whom they wish to see and she takes their card and, writing instructions on it, sends it into the representative desired. The pages who carry these cards back and forth are generally kept very busy and often come in for ugly calls from disappointed callers.

When the legislature at Washington is in full session the members are generally very busy and absorbed in the nation's business. If they are fighting for a measure which is of national import they have very little time to be explaining difficulties and arranging little minor matters for unreasonable women who imagine that their little trouble is the only one in the world and should therefore be adjusted at once. Just at present both houses are busily engaged with measures which are vastly important to the whole country; they have little time to spare and yet if one were to stroll through the capitol today he would find that little waiting room crowded with women who are filled with that unconscious presumption that encourages them to protrude their little affairs to the front at the expense of the nation's most important business. When the cause of "Women's Rights" come to its own it will be a toss-up between the nation's business and the angled affairs of a pink tea or bridge party.

One of the old gags that the members work on callers whom they desire to dodge is, when the page comes to them with a call, they move to a vacant seat and send out word that they are not in their seat. The page who has to deliver this message, which is not a lie, generally comes in for trouble, as oftentimes the caller goes to the gallery and, seeing that the member is on the floor, goes back to the unlucky page and vents her ire on him. The congressmen, who are not without human instinct, generally reward the page for his trouble. This "Female-caller" nuisance is not a new one and while women continue to be unreasonable the waiting rooms of the capitol will always be filled.

Wireless Operators in Demand. "Wireless operators—steady demand," is the market quotation hung up in the navigation bureau of the department of commerce and labor. The federal officials believe that eventually all ocean craft will be equipped with wireless telegraph apparatus and that the posts aboard ships should be tempting to operators.

About 600 vessels on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and the Gulf of Mexico are already so equipped, an increase from about 350 a year ago. All have to get a certificate from the commissioner of navigation. Heretofore all have been examined at the various navy yards, but for the convenience of telegraph operators living in interior towns arrangements have been made by which they may be examined by the military authorities at Fort Omaha, Neb. The examinations there to be conducted from time to time.

Weird Indian Dances Barred. It is for the economic and social good of the Indians, officials of the Indian bureau in Washington declared, that objection has been made to the sun, buffalo, willow and some of the other prolonged dances in which members of certain tribes indulge.

"Often these orgies, for that is what the dances practically amount to, consume several weeks of the Indians' time at a season when his farm needs his attention," said an official. "The interior department will continue to object to these dances."

What May Happen to Lifers. A life term in prison who assaults another person with a deadly weapon is punishable with death under a decision announced by the Supreme court of the United States, upholding the constitutionality of a California statute. In so holding, the court declined to interfere with the death sentence imposed upon James W. Finley at Sacramento.

"STORY OF THE WILLOW-PATTERN PLATE"

A UNIQUE feature of the Anita orchestra, which is scheduled as one of the attractions for Chautauqua week here, is that each member of the company is not only a good singer, but equally good in playing musical instruments. As shown in the above photographs, they appear in special costumes and present such novelty features as "Little Miss Wooden Shoes" and "The Story of the Willow Pattern Plate" and "The Goose Girls." Mrs. Ralph Dunbar, formerly with the Dunbar quartet and bell ringers, presents readings of such selections as Dickens' "A Child's Dream of a Star." The Anitas present both classical and popular programs.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. BOATING NOW AND BATHING

On Little River Inside the City For a Mile or More.

PARK NOW READY.

Formal Opening Friday But Public Will Not Wait.

Edgewater Park will be opened officially Friday afternoon at five o'clock at the Custodian's offices in the Park.

There will be brief remarks by Mayor Meacham and an address on behalf of the young people of the city by Mr. Alvan H. Clark.

Everybody is invited to attend the exercises, after which there will be boating on the river and perhaps some swimming contests.

The ordinance creating the Park will go into effect today and Hugh Nelson will be appointed custodian until the council meets again, when he will be formally elected.

The river is filling up slowly but will be over the dam by that time. Yesterday it lacked about one foot and was a clear, beautiful stream 6 or 7 feet deep in many places.

The new Mullins Steel rowboats arrived Saturday and Mr. Nelson put five of them into livery yesterday, the young people refusing to wait until Friday. The others are owned by M. D. Kelly, Clark & Linton and W. T. Cooper. Besides these, George Graves, J. M. Starling and H. W. Linton have wooden boats. The Custodian's office and bathrooms were yesterday painted red. The platforms are being finished today.

Let us see that watch of yours. We can make it run. Forbes Mfg. Co. Incorporated.

BITULITHIC OR BRICK.

The Edgewater Park Officially Named By An Ordinance Passed.

The Council met in regular meeting Friday night and held until a late hour, many important matters being considered. The final settlement in the Latham compromise was reported and put to record.

The levy ordinance for 1912 was passed as follows:

Property Of Whites.

General purposes	75 cents
Special for streets	20 "
R. R. Bonds	5 "
Public School maintenance	35 "
Public School Bonds	15 "
Total	$1.50
Poll tax	$3.00.

Colored

General purposes	75 cents
Special for streets	20 "
R. R. Bonds	5 "
Public Schools	25 "
Total	$1.25
Poll tax	$2.50.

Two ordinances were passed dealing with the river improvements. One creates the public grounds on the river into Edgewater Park and provides for its control by a custodian who shall be paid no salary, but shall have an office on the grounds and have the exclusive privilege of renting bathing suits and boats.

The other ordinance is to protect little river from encroachments along its banks and it is made unlawful to throw anything into it, parents and employers being held liable for the acts of children or employees.

The Mayor was authorized to borrow $7,000 until the 1912 revenues begin to come in.

The Street Committee was given authority to deal with the sprinkling of the streets.

It was definitely decided to construct about 14,000 yards of improved streets at an estimated cost of $21,000, the cost to be borne jointly by the city and property owners abutting. The Council was so much impressed with a proposition from the Southern Bitulithic Co., of Nashville, that the Street Committee went to Nashville yesterday to see samples of the street proposed. Another meeting will be held Friday night to hear the committee's report.

Protest Against Pardon.

Evansville, Ind., June 10.—Hundreds of residents of Greenville, Central City and South Carrollton, Ky., are signers of a protest against the granting of a pardon to Carl Strother, of Tiffin, O., who was convicted of bigamy in the Circuit Court here in July, 1911. The signers of the protest are acquaintances of Strother's wife No. 2, whom he brought to Evansville from Greenville.

A NEW ERA IN THE AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY

Studebaker Company Makes Changes for Good of Dealer and Customer.

One of the indications of a big change in the movement of the automobile industry is the reorganization of the sales end of the Studebaker Corporation. The Studebakers have a sixty-year perspective in the wagon industry and since their entry into the automobile field have held a manufacturing pace that has made automobile history.

According to Clement Studebaker, Jr., First Vice President of the Corporation, times are ripe for changes. "The Automobile business," said Mr. Studebaker, "can't be run in the future as it has in the past. The automobile is no longer an experiment, a novelty or a toy. It is an immensely important mechanical feature of our natural life. The Wild Cat times are over. Mushroom growths are at an end. The rush into automobile manufacture, the craze for flash and novelty, the systems of making and selling, the reckless disregard of after service in a car, will not be tolerated by the car users of the future—and careful manufacturers have got to think about the future."

"Our reorganization is based on the new needs of the business as we see them. We want the highest standardization in manufacture. To attain this we have established an Engineering Board with James G. Haeslett as its chief. Mr. Haeslett and his associates will aim not only to specialize production as to give the best cars for the money, but so to standardize the units as to guarantee convenience, efficiency and economy of service in the use of the cars. Maintenance service to car owners has never received sufficient attention in the industry as a whole. We want Studebaker service to mean something—and to mean something anywhere in the world. We can now sell a car or a part of a car in San Francisco for delivery in the Berkshires."

"We realize that if the Studebaker Corporation is to meet the new conditions we must have experts at every point of contact with the conditions. We have ransacked the country for the best men, and we have found them. Ernest R. Benson at the head of the Auto Sales Department is one of the ablest men in the field, and the same may be said of Arthur I. Philp, who is Assistant Sales Manager. Foreign Sales will be in the experienced hands of W. H. Lally—and foreign business is growing extraordinarily. I need not tell you that our general manager, Mr. J. N. Gunn, is in full sympathy with the spirit of our reorganization and that he personally exemplifies the principles of rational business in a brilliant way.

"In fact," continued Mr. Studebaker, "business methods as well as manufacturing methods need standardization if public confidence is to be maintained, and practical economy to be conserved. That word confidence tells it all. We want to hold the confidence of the dealers of the country. That confidence, which means so much to owners in steadiness and efficiency of service, must always be earned and earned again. No manufacturer can succeed without it."

"The future of the automobile? That's too big a subject. You can make a guess from this: The cars sold by the Studebaker Company this season if placed end to end would reach from New York to Boston, a distance of 214 miles."

"TEDDY'S BULLDOG" COMPANION TO HOUN'

Merry Refrain Sung By Roosevelt Headquarters Staff.

Chicago, June 10.—Nine members of the clerical staff of the national Roosevelt headquarters, who arrived in Chicago yesterday from New York and Washington, stirred up the "Indians" in the Congress hotel with a companion ditty to the democratic houn' dawg song. They proclaimed it "Teddy's bull dog," and sang it on the way from the station. It runs this way to the tune of "Casey Jones."

I.
Teddy's gotta dawg, but he ain't no hound,
He's a square jawed bull, and his face is round;
His legs is short, and he's close to the ground,
And you bet they ain't kickin' Teddy's dawg around.

CHORUS
Square jawed bull, and his face is round,
Square jawed bull, and he ain't no hound;
Short legged bull, close to the ground,
And you bet they ain't kickin' Teddy's bull around.

II.
The Democratic dawg, the unlucky hound
That the boys have all been kickin' round.
Is the same old dawg that's been sticking 'roun'
Since old Abe Lincoln came to Washington town.

CIRCUIT COURT

Is Dealing Only With Small Matters This Week.

This bids fair to be a very uninteresting term of Circuit Court. Nothing much is being done, except to wait on the grand jury's report. Indictments are expected in several jail cases. Two cases were tried yesterday. Curtis Kirby, col., who has been a fugitive from justice on a charge of hog stealing four years ago, who was recently caught, took a year's sentence on a plea of guilty. The L. & N. Railroad was fined $50 for maintaining a nuisance.

HOTEL WAS LIKE DOG POUND

Many, and Various Kinds of Canines Overrun Hospitality in Puerto Rico City.

Robert O. Bailey, assistant secretary of the treasury, has a sense of humor.

A few years ago, when Bailey was working for the Associated Press, he accompanied the rivers and harbors committee on their tour in various places, including Puerto Rico. When they landed at Puerto Rico he heard an Irish stewardess on the boat express a wish that she might purchase a native dog to take home as a souvenir. That was enough for Bailey. He excused himself from the rest of the party, engaged an interpreter, and went up through the marts, where he told every man, woman and child who would listen that there was a woman at yon hotel whose soul craved a Puerto Rican dog.

Within thirty minutes a vast concourse of natives, each leading from one to four ill-favored dogs, had gathered at the hotel that harbored the rivers and harbors committee, and certain members of the committee, who got tired of stepping on a dog every time they moved, were considerably peeved over the situation. For a time no man dared rise on his tiptoes lest he make a dog squeal shrilly when he let his heels down again.

It had been planned to give the visitors something of an ovation, but their hotel looked so much like a pound during a hydrophobia scare that few of the entertainment committee could get within handshaking distance.

But the Irish stewardess succeeded in buying a dog. She got it for 15 cents.

"And," says Robert O. Bailey, "that was the only feature of the day that made me feel guilty, for she was a hard-working woman, and she got cheated."

COST HIS SALARY TO SLEEP

Newly Elected Senator Discovers That $650 a Month is Not Considered High Price.

A newly elected senator came on early to Washington to arrange for rooms, and had an object lesson furnished him on "the high cost of living"—the winning slogan in the recent campaign. He wanted to start in "with the swim" and he at the center of things so he priced the "focal" hotel.

"We make it $650 per month, two rooms and bath, to you, senator—without meals," said the clerk dreamily. When the senator caught his breath, he was two blocks up the avenue.

He tried another hotel; a moderately exclusive house whose lobbies were a sort of eddying pool of statesmen and "influential" lobbyists. To him the attendant flamen of this gilded shrine remarked: "Now, we have a choice two rooms with bath, at $350 per month—"

"Without eating—just for a sleeping-place!" broke in the senator, "why, I'd turn up with fever if I had to sleep at that price!"

The salary of a senator is $7,500, and it is figured on the high level of "simple living" in Washington that he ought to part with that much for assured rest at a good hotel. But the new senator didn't feel that way about it. Finally it was suggested that he might take a room at the simple hotel of the old days, at one dollar per twenty-four hours and save money, using the parcel room for baggage when away over Sunday. Then he could take a peep at Peacock Alley and meet friends in the "lobby" which the more wealthy statesmen and tourists support.—National Magazine.

Merrimac's Mascot Dead.

The mascot of the Merrimac is dead. It will be remembered that the Merrimac is the ship which gave Representative Richmond Pearson Hobson all his fame. He tried to sink it in Santiago bay, across the mouth of the harbor, to stop the entrance into the harbor of the Spanish ships, but was unable to accomplish his purpose. The boat went to the bottom, but it did not interfere with commerce. He had on the Merrimac with him a fox terrier "Gyp," and when he left the ill-fated boat he carried with him "Gyp." The dog lived quite the limit of a dog's life, being 14½ years old when he died. The dog was put in a casket and laid to one side until the ground can thaw sufficiently to dig the grave, then it is reported he is to have an elaborate funeral.

Their Laughter Premature.

Among insurance stockholders and racetrack owners of New York there is much glee over an error made by a postoffice clerk in Washington, who handled a letter addressed to "Hon. Charles E. Hughes." Writing "deceased" across the envelope, the clerk returned the letter to its writer.

The mistake came through the clerk's supposing the letter was for the late Senator Charles J. Hughes of Colorado, instead of New York's former governor, now associate justice of the Supreme court.

Several "deceased" race tracks around New York and a lot of insurance company schemes that are very dead hear mute evidence to his qualities as a killer, but he and his whippers still live.

Not Surprised.

"This wine," said Mr. Bluffer, proudly, "has been in my cellar for thirty years."

Mr. Kauler, who is something of a connoisseur, sipped his portion critically. "I don't wonder," he murmured.

A Splendid Tonic.

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says: "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. Your druggist sells Cardui.

HYPNOTIC EYE ROUTS A BEAR

Director Holmes of the Bureau of Mines Has an Exciting Encounter in Alaska.

Dr. Holmes.

Hypnotism, which he studied for amusement when a young man, saved the life of Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the bureau of mines, while he was in Alaska recently.

He has returned to Washington and relates a thrilling story of his encounter with a brown bear. Several geologists who witnessed the incident bear out Dr. Holmes in his assertion that he put the wounded and infuriated animal to flight by merely waving his arms and casting piercing glances at the advancing enemy. Holmes tells the story thus:

"I had been 'way up in north central Alaska with several scientists looking over the coal fields when one of our party saw a bear. He was a big fellow; you probably know that the largest bears to be found anywhere in the world are in Alaska, and he wasn't a great distance from us."

"One of the boys who carried a gun took careful aim and fired. The bullet struck the bear in the left hind leg. With a roar the bear leaped into the air and within a few minutes was hot on our trail. We all ran."

"For some reason the bear, with his head low and growling all the while, paid no attention to the other men and bolted for me. I ran as fast as I could with the bear after me. I would look back every few steps and soon I found that, although the bear was limping, he was getting over the ground pretty rapidly and was steadily gaining."

"At last when I saw that I could not escape and that I was losing strength and becoming winded rapidly, I turned around and faced the bear. He seemed surprised that I had given up the chase and stopped short within twenty feet of me."

"I looked at him, got his eye and motioned to him with my hands. Strange as it may seem, that bear, mad as he was, stood motionless for a minute or two—it seemed an hour to me—and finally with a loud grunt limped away."

"He had not gone more than a hundred yards until one of the boys—the one who wounded him—fired a second shot and killed the bear instantly."

"It was just a case of bluff with me. I tried some hypnotism on that bear as a last resort and using the slang expression, 'I got away with it.' I will admit I was scared. I had a right to be. When a boy I used to read up on hypnotism just for the fun of the thing and now I realize that it was time well spent, for if I hadn't done what I did I really think that bear would have made a meal of me. Some of my friends up in Alaska skinned that bear and have promised to send me his hide for a souvenir."

MAKES SHIPS UNSINKABLE

New Invention That is Being Tried Out on American War Vessels.

An invention for keeping water from entering ships through holes by means of compressed air is being tested on board the battleship North Carolina. Captain C. C. Mnrsh, commander of the North Carolina, thinks that the use of the apparatus will prevent vessels from going to the bottom following collisions, or when hit by torpedoes or shells, and declares it will revolutionize marine warfare. The invention is merely an adaptation of the compartments of ships of the science of air pressure as already applied to tunnel building. It was developed by one of the engineers of the subway in this city.

Want New Colorado Park.

The establishment of a national park in Colorado, totally different in character, it is said, from any existing park, and much closer to the center of population than any of the present reservations, is recommended in a number of letters received by Secretary of the Interior Fisher.

"The general idea of having a large park at or near the place proposed appeals to me personally," said Secretary Fisher, "but before such action could be taken it would be necessary to have an examination made of the territory. Therefore it would be necessary to submit the matter to congress, as the department has no available money even for the survey."

The park as proposed would include an area of about 600,000 acres. Portions of Grand, Jackson, Larimer and Boulder counties would be included and the park would take in Longs Peak, Grand lake and the canyons of the Big Thompson river.

For Good Roads, Forty-Four Millions

Nearly $44,000,000 has been spent in road improvements by the southern states alone during the past year, according to Secretary Wilson. This enormous total is made up by expenditures in the various states as follows: Alabama, $3,404,000; Arkansas, $2,450,000; Florida, $1,505,000; Georgia, $2,500,000; Kentucky, $2,500,000; Louisiana, $1,143,354; Maryland, $2,500,000; Mississippi, $3,130,000; North Carolina, $4,905,000; Oklahoma, $1,505,000; South Carolina, $1,100,000; Tennessee, $3,900,000; Texas, $7,100,000; Virginia, $4,004,000, and West Virginia, $1,625,000.

PARTY'S POWER AT END STRIKING FASTER GAIT

BREAKUP OF REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION IS APPARENT.

Its Only Bond Fast Approaching Dissolution With the Personal Quarrel Between President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt.

The Republican party is going to pieces because the only bond that has held it together for years past has lost its power over the people. That bond is the protective tariff. Republicanism's two great leaders are now openly at war. They accuse each other of many wrongs, but in every case the charge has to do with the tariff or its beneficiaries. Both wings of the party are in full flight from the organization's tariff and trust record and the harshest things that Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt can say of each other are those that allege undue subservience to the grasping bosses of business and politics.

Some such end as this is inevitable in the case of every political party that has no aim but plunder. In all of Republicanism's bookkeeping for 20 years there has been no entry of a moral idea. Its sole purpose has been the enrichment of a class at the expense of another class. Its sentiments are all sordid. Its battle cries are all of greed.

Mr. Taft confesses the hopelessness of further monopolistic tariffs by denouncing the present schedules and their authors and promising relief as soon as the tariff board shall have completed its investigations.

Mr. Roosevelt confesses the worthlessness of the trust-building tariff for campaign purposes hereafter by seeking a third term on other and very remote issues. There were a few precedents in the bloody shirt. There have been several precedents in the tariff, but Republicans everywhere agree that there will be no more.

A party actuated by high ideals could not possibly develop a situation such as that which has led to the violent personal quarrel between Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt. They have fallen apart because the various beneficiaries of favoring laws have separated into jealous and warring groups. Some of these gluttonous interests favor one man. Some of them favor the other. In the exposures now in progress we have proof of guilt on all sides and revelations of the truth that cannot fail to startle the country.

The break between Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt is more than a rupture between two men. It signifies that the two wings of the Republican party are turning state's evidence against each other. Neither side has any defense to offer for the party as such. Both admit every count in the indictment of that organization as presented by Democrats. There is no hope of saving the party, for it is conceded that it is not worth saving. The present Republican watchword is "Every man for himself!"—St. Louis Republic.

By the way, while charging Mr. Taft with "insincerity" in signing the Payne-Aldrich bill, where does Col. Roosevelt stand on the tariff? Would he have voted for or signed the Payne-Aldrich bill? Is he in favor of the wool, cotton and metals tariff bills now pending in congress? Has he any fixed views on the tariff schedules, and, if so, has he the courage to make them public?

Roosevelt's Only Support. Suppose the delegates to the Republican convention in Chicago should go stark mad and nominate Theodore Roosevelt for a third term. It would be impossible for the leading Republican journals of the country to deny themselves and swallow themselves by giving him support. It would be equally impossible to get the support of the sober Republican electorate who still swear by the Constitution and the flag. Only the yellows would follow in the trail of the Claimant. And Perkins.

The Frenchman who invented the talking moving-picture machine should hasten to America and get a record of Col. Roosevelt calling himself indispensable. A few months hence it will be the funniest thing in the world.

WITH APPROACHING SPRING CONGRESS SEES NEED OF ACTION.

Washington, Executive, Legislative, Political and Official, Generally Begging to Hump Itself—Very Little Accomplished.

On the genial side of the dividing line that splits winter into halves Washington, executive, legislative, political and official, generally begins to hump itself on the long stretch into spring. Yes, three and a half months have sped by since the second session of the 62nd congress assembled. There has been so much hippodroming about the presidency that other tasks have been neglected. Now the nominating conventions are not so far away. There must be industry or summer vacations will be curtailed, and long, sultry residence at Washington during June and July will be inevitable.

Hence bugle calls for action. The arrangements of executive business have been now pretty well disposed of. The last of the annual reports of cabinet officials has been turned in. The president has sent several special messages to congress. There may be one or two yet, part of the series which was inaugurated the first week of the session, when, according to ancient usage, all of the president's annual message should have "gone in" and been referred to divers committees for consideration.

But the government is growing bigger and bigger. The president and cabinet officials have some excuse for tardiness. They have much to do, find more diversions pressing upon them than of yore, and, furthermore, this is presidential year. Naturally it takes the president and members of his cabinet longer to get into action when they return from travels and from summer and autumn residence. It also takes congress longer to get into action. The committees have more to do. There are thousands of bills to be sorted out and considered where 20 years ago there were only hundreds. The demands upon the time of officials and congressmen are greater.

But midwinter has in reality passed and the period of preparation is at last ended. There is earnest work in every quarter. A score of good orators hastened forth for the various banquets and exercises that occurred in celebration of Lincoln's birthday. They are back here with the stories of their observations for the delectation of the politicians in the offices and congressional cloakrooms.

One must think a moment before being able to recall a single measure of national interest that the dear old senate has disposed of in these three months. Indeed, it has agreed to vote upon the ratification of the general arbitration treaties. An agreement to vote is a real achievement in the senate, even though the date be as far ahead as March. And the senate also for a day or two got up quite a lively debate over a bill to create a bureau in the department of commerce and labor to gather statistics on child labor.

A hundred bills have been enacted at that end of the capitol this session, but practically all have been minor little bills, generally of no interest outside of particular localities. Thus far there have been only four sessions a week and adjournment from Thursdays over till Mondays. There have been no fights over the confirmation of nominations, no fights over anything as a matter of fact, and the winter has been passing.

What political effect is all this to have? How can the Republican party recover from the fatal results of this bitter contest? The situation is without example in our political history.—New York Evening Post.

Welcomed By The Mayor at a Meeting Presided Over
By Geo. E. Gary.

Under the auspices of the Hopkinsville Business Men's Association, a luncheon was served at Hotel Latham last night to about 200 business men of Hopkinsville and Hon. W. J. Pilkington, editor of the Merchants Trade Journal, of Des Moines, Iowa, delivered an address.

The meeting was called to order in the dining room about nine o'clock by Geo. E. Gary, acting President, and refreshments were served, after which cigars were lighted and Mayor Meacham was called upon to welcome Mr. Pilkington on behalf of the city. He concluded by introducing the speaker of the evening, who spoke on "The Success of a City Through its Commercial Organizations."

Mr. Pilkington is a speaker of ability and success in his line and his address was a strong plea for the encouragement of such organizations as the Hopkinsville Business Men's organization.
